

2012 Missouri Scholars Academy
Nominating Guidelines for Public School Districts & Private Schools

Three-hundred and thirty “rising” high school juniors (approximately one-half percent of the state’s tenth graders) will be selected to attend the Missouri Scholars Academy. A state-level committee will choose Academy scholars from the students nominated by public school districts and private high schools.

Please use this chart to determine how many students your district or school may nominate for the 2012 Missouri Scholars Academy.
